- (iv) small cracks

A4. Do as directed:

- (i) "It takes the shape." → Rewrite in Present Perfect Tense:
It has taken the shape.
- (ii) "It left us thinking." → Pick out the gerund:
thinking

A5. Personal Response: 'Nature is the best teacher.' Explain in 3/4 sentences.

Nature is indeed the best teacher. It teaches us patience through the water that slowly shapes the hardest rock. It teaches us to live fully in the present, just like the hibiscus flower that blooms and smiles with all its might for a single day. It also teaches us resilience — small blades of grass pushing through concrete remind us that there is always a way forward.

Q.2.(B) Passage 2 — The Langur — 10 Marks

B1. Rewrite and state whether 'True' or 'False':

- (i) The narrator heard the barking of street dogs. → True
- (ii) The narrator did not hear the disturbance. → False
(The narrator did hear the disturbance approaching closer.)
- (iii) The dominant male usually does not allow another male to survive within its group. → True
- (iv) The narrator gathered a thin stick in one hand. → False

(The narrator gathered a stout stick, not a thin stick.)

B2. Give reasons for the following:

The narrator rushed to the veranda because:

- (i) Curiosity got the better of him / her — the barking grew louder and more aggressive and the cawing of crows added to the commotion.
- (ii) The narrator wanted to see what was going on outside.

B3. Write antonyms from the extract:

- (i) gathered × scattered
- (ii) mercifully × mercilessly
- (iii) female × male
- (iv) heed × ignore / disregard

B4. Do as directed:

- (i) "The barking became louder and more aggressive."

Rewrite using "not only — but also":

The barking became not only louder but also more aggressive.

- (ii) Choose the correct passive voice of "I recalled the terrible custom.":

(b) The terrible custom was recalled by me.

B5. Personal Response: What would you do if you found an injured animal?

If I found an injured animal on my way home, I would first stay calm and approach it gently so as not to frighten it further. I would call a nearby animal rescue helpline or take the animal to a veterinarian as quickly as possible. I would also cover it with a soft cloth to keep it warm and comfortable until help arrived. I believe it is our duty to protect animals and show them compassion.

SECTION III : Poetry — 10 Marks

Q.3.(A) 'O Captain! My Captain!' — 5 Marks

A1. True or False:

- (i) The ship is anchor'd safely. → True
- (ii) The trip is joyful. → False (It is described as a 'fearful trip'.)
- (iii) The captain hears the bells. → False (The captain is dead and cannot hear.)
- (iv) The captain lies on the deck. → True (Fallen cold and dead on the deck.)

A2. Complete the following web — Condition of the Captain:

He doesn't feel: the narrator's arm

He has fallen: cold and dead

He has no: pulse nor will

His lips are: pale and still

A3. Find the rhyming words for the following from the poem:

- (i) bed — dead
- (ii) kill — still / will
- (iii) fun — won / done
- (iv) bread — tread / dead

Q.3.(B) Appreciation of Poem — 'The Twins' by Henry Sambrooke Leigh — 5 Marks

Title: The Twins

Name of the Poet: Henry Sambrooke Leigh

Rhyme Scheme: ABAB (e.g., limb/him, brother/another; kin/twin, pitch/which)

Irony — The most ironic situation is that when the narrator died, the neighbours mistakenly buried his brother John instead.

Theme / Central Idea (2-3 lines):

The poem 'The Twins' humorously narrates the lifelong troubles of a narrator who looked exactly like his twin brother. Their identical appearances caused countless mix-ups — from being given each other's names as babies to the narrator's bride becoming his brother's wife. The poem ends with the ultimate comic twist: when the narrator died, the neighbours buried brother John by mistake. The central idea is that mistaken identity can create absurd and unending confusion throughout one's entire life.

- (ii) Swapnil chose shooting to specialize. (Add a question tag)

Swapnil chose shooting to specialize, didn't he?

A5. Personal Response: Which is your favourite game? Why?

My favourite game is cricket. I love cricket because it is an exciting team sport that requires both physical skill and mental strategy. Watching great players like Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma inspires me to practise harder. Cricket also teaches important values like teamwork, patience, and perseverance, which are useful in everyday life as well.

Q.4.(B) Summary Writing — 5 Marks

Read the passage on Swapnil Kusale and write a summary. Suggest a suitable title.

Title: From a Farmer's Son to a Champion Shooter

Swapnil Kusale, born on August 6, 1995, in Kambalwadi, Kolhapur, comes from a humble agricultural family. His father Suresh, a school teacher, recognised his talent and enrolled him in the Maharashtra Government's prestigious Krida Prabodhini programme in 2009. After rigorous training, Swapnil chose shooting as his specialisation. He won gold in the 50 m rifle prone event at the 2015 Asian Shooting Championship in Kuwait and continued to excel at national level competitions. He works as a ticket examiner with Central Railways since 2015 and received the Shiv Chhatrapati State Sports Award in 2016-17. At the 2021 ISSF World Cup in New Delhi, he secured gold in the team event. His remarkable journey culminated in earning an Olympic quota for Paris 2024 and winning a bronze medal at the 2022 ISSF World Championship in Cairo.

Amit : Hello Rahul! Have you joined the computer classes at school? Rahul : Yes, Amit! I joined last week. It is really interesting. Why do you ask? Amit : I was thinking about whether computer education is really important for students like us. Rahul : Of course it is! In today's world, almost every field — medicine, business, engineering — uses computers. Without computer skills, we will be left behind. Amit : That's true. I heard that coding and programming are very useful too. Rahul : Absolutely! Computer education also improves our logical thinking and problem-solving skills, which help us in all subjects. Amit : You are right. I think I should also join the computer classes as soon as possible. Rahul : Definitely! It is an investment in our future. Let's go together!

B2. Speech: 'Books are our real friends'

Respected teachers and dear friends, Good morning to all! Today, I stand before you to speak about one of the most loyal companions we can ever have — Books. Books are truly our real friends because they are always there for us, whether we are happy or sad. Unlike people, books never judge us, never let us down, and always have something valuable to offer. Firstly, books are a treasure of knowledge and information. They open up worlds we have never seen and teach us things we could not imagine. Secondly, books are a source of endless entertainment and fun. A good story can transport us to faraway lands and make us forget our worries for a while. Moreover, reading books regularly improves our language skills — our vocabulary grows, our writing improves, and we learn to express ourselves better. Most importantly, books develop our personality and build our confidence. They teach us values, expose us to different perspectives, and make us better human beings. Let us all develop the habit of reading and make books our best friends. A book a day keeps ignorance away! Thank you!

SECTION VI : Information Transfer — 15 Marks

Q.6.(A1) Non-verbal to Verbal — Effective & Ineffective Communication

Write two paragraphs based on the table. Give a suitable title.

Title: Effective vs. Ineffective Communication

Communication is a vital skill in our daily lives. Effective communication involves several important elements. When a speaker uses body language and gestures, maintains eye contact and appropriate facial expressions, shows emotional involvement, and uses a proper tone, the message is conveyed clearly and impressively. Such communication builds trust and understanding between people.

On the other hand, ineffective communication arises when there is a lack of interest or attention from either the speaker or the listener. Speaking on an unknown or unfamiliar topic without preparation also leads to confusion. Using inappropriate vocabulary further hampers the flow of communication. Therefore, to communicate effectively, one must be well-prepared, focused, and mindful of the audience.

Q.6.(B1) News Report — Nav Bharat School Celebrates Science Day

NAV BHARAT SCHOOL CELEBRATES 'SCIENCE DAY' Pune, 28th February 2025. Nav Bharat School, Pune, celebrated National Science Day with great enthusiasm on Friday. The event, held in honour of the discovery of the Raman Effect by Nobel Laureate Sir C.V. Raman, saw active participation from students of all classes. The programme began with the lighting of the lamp by the school principal, who encouraged students to pursue scientific thinking in everyday life. Students presented science models, experiments and projects on various topics including renewable energy, robotics and environmental conservation. The science quiz and poster competition attracted hundreds of participants. The event concluded with prize distribution, with the principal congratulating all winners and inspiring the student community to pursue careers in science and technology.

Q.6.(B2) Story Development

Title: A Journey I Will Never Forget

In the last summer vacation, I visited the majestic hill station of Coorg in Karnataka with my family. It was my first trip to such a beautiful and green part of India, and I was filled with excitement as our car wound its way up the misty mountains. We stayed at a small homestay surrounded by coffee plantations. Every morning I would wake up to the fragrance of fresh coffee and the chirping of birds. One day, we trekked to the famous Abbey Falls, where the waterfall crashed down with a thunderous roar. The cool mist settled on our faces and it felt magical. On another day, we visited the ancient Raja's Seat garden, which offered a breathtaking view of the valley below, painted in shades of green and gold as the sun set. We also saw herds of elephants at the Dubare Elephant Camp, which was the highlight of the trip for me. The journey taught me that nature has a way of healing the mind and refreshing the soul. It was truly a summer vacation that I will treasure in my heart for the rest of my life.
